To Whom It May Concern:

I have recently filed two patent applications: 10/002,690, and 10/046,386. A change of address form was filled out and mailed for both, early this year. Correspondence for 10/002,690 has been routinely sent to the new address. However, I became concerned upon the non-receipt of correspondence for 10/046,386. I have now learned that the change of address for that application was never put through, causing correspondence to be sent to the old address, and not forwarded to me. Apparently, 10/046,386 has been cancelled due to lack of response. I wish to try and rectify this situation by re-supplying the change of address form for that application, and re-establishing normal examination correspondence. The change of address form is enclosed. I believe that the examiner for the application is : Sheng Jun Wang, and the application is in Art unit 1617. I am not sure that any proof of the original mailing of the change of address exists. You can verify from 10/002,690, that I am the same inventor, with the same original address, and that both were filed at about the same time. I would have no reason to file for a change of address on one, but not the other. I filled out both change of address forms, and mailed them (in separate envelopes), at the same time, from the same post office. Although it has been a long while since I have received any information on 10/046,386, it has not been unreasonably long, considering the time that patent examinations can often take. Since the change for 10/002,690 took place, I thought that all was normal. Any communication as to whether or not 10/046,386 can be reinstated, would be appreciated. Thank you for your attention towards this.

Sincerely,
